STRENGTH OF LOCAL TRADE RELATIONSHIPS VITAL TO SUCCESS

WA Country Builders and the Rural Building Company have been building in the Great Southern region for over 20 years and have continued to maintain a high build quality and workmanship through every build, despite the 'building boom'. This has been successfully achieved through the efficiency and strength of the local Albany team, and surrounding trade base.

WA Country Builders and the Rural Building Company Albany have continued to meet a 12-14 month administration and construction building timeframe, despite the increase in demand as a result of the building grants. This build timeframe is one of lowest in the Great Southern region.

"This has been achieved through implementing capped sales periods during peak months in 2020. In turn, ensuring that we could still meet build time guarantees and successfully maintain our enduring impression, and relationship with the local community," says local Building and Design Consultant, Darren Welshman.

In addition to optimising sales, the team have continued to operate as 'normal'. This can be attributed to the experienced local administration and construction team.

Plus the strength of the local trade community. Great Southern Regional Manager, Levi Evans, outlines the powerful trade base and relationship that WA Country Builders has across the region.

"Our supervisors and local Construction Manager have been building in the region for many years. They have extensive experience in rural and greenfield lots and are attuned to the varying conditions spread throughout the region. They also have a very strong relationship with our trades. Most of our trades have been working with us for a number of years also", said Mr Evans.

"They understand what we build and what we stand for and they care about what they do, it shows in their workmanship. We appreciate the relationship we have with them and it enables us to produce homes built to a very high standard. The combined efforts of our experienced team working with our trades and suppliers continues to push us through and maintain our commitment to swift build times," said Mr Evans.

WA Country Builders are proud to have such a strong relationship with local trades in Albany and across regional Western Australia. Enabling local teams and trades across the state to remain efficient during this unprecedented period and continue to work together to complete homes to a high quality standard.
